Test of Listening & Reading Skills

Cost-effective tools for assessing workplace communication skills.

Berlitz professional language proficiency testing assesses an individual's ability to communicate in a work-related environment. Available in many languages and both online and offline formats, Berlitz Testing reaches far beyond a basic linguistic snapshot to yield accurate, meaningful results about abilities in speaking, listening, reading, and writing.

The Berlitz Test of Listening & Reading Skills.

The Berlitz Test of Listening & Reading Skills is a convenient and cost-effective online tool that assesses employee or applicant language skills. Easily accessible from an online computer, this 60 to 90 minute test measures several important areas of communication:

- listening comprehension
- reading comprehension
- grammatical accuracy
- breadth of vocabulary.

Available assessments include Spanish, French, German, and Italian. To enable examinees to take the test independently, the instructions are offered in the above languages as well as in English and Dutch.

Because it is administered online, the Berlitz Test of Listening & Reading Skills can be taken either onsite for added convenience or at a Berlitz Training Center where the test can be professionally proctored.

Immediate, Standardized Results.

The results are available immediately after test administration via email, and are based on the Common European Framework (CEF), which is one of the most widely used and recognized language proficiency scales in the world. These assessments are easily interpreted to determine employee or applicant language qualification, though assistance is always available. Berlitz Testing Specialists are ready to help organizations at any point in the testing process.

When a company or organization chooses the Berlitz Test of Listening & Reading Skills, the results ensure better choices for hiring and placement.
